The show's official hashtag is #acltv.

"The Americana Honors & Awards showcases one of the biggest and brightest lineups of talent seen all year," raves NPR. Recorded live at Nashville's historic Ryman Auditorium in September, The Americana Music Association's 14th Annual Honors & Awards ceremony is a best in show reflecting the spirit of Americana: American roots music that incorporates elements of country, rock 'n' roll, folk, bluegrass, R&B and blues.

Hosted by Americana kingpin Jim Lauderdale, the show opens with steel guitar sensation Robert Randolph joining with two legendary gospel groups, The Fairfield Four and the McCrary Sisters, for a rousing rendition of "Rock My Soul." Highlights include show-stopping performances by the night's Artist of the Year nominees: Rhiannon Giddens showcases her powerful vocals in a stunning performance of "Waterboy" from her Album of the Year-nominated Tomorrow Is My Turn. Acclaimed singer-songwriter Jason Isbell, who captured top honors at last year's awards, offers the anthemic title track of his new album, Something

More Than Free. Country queen Lee Ann Womack performs from her critically-acclaimed The Way I'm Livin', also nominated for Album of the Year.

Another of the night's top nominees, Emerging Artist of the Year winner Shakey Graves, is joined by Esmé Patterson for a playful duet of his nominated single "Dearly Departed." Duo/group nominees The Lone Bellow, an indie-folk trio, make their first appearance, singing their standout "Then Came the Morning."

In true Americana style, the broadcast is loaded with musical moments and collaborations from the music's forebears, including ovation-worthy turns from musical legend Don Henley, awarded a Lifetime Achievement Honor, performing from his acclaimed new album Cass County and veteran singer-songwriter and Song of the Year nominee John Hiatt. Bluegrass master Ricky Skaggs—the night's Lifetime Achievement Honoree for Instrumentalist—performs with his wife and collaborator Sharon White alongside fellow legend Ry Cooder; and Americana icon Buddy Miller and celebrated guitarist and songwriter Marc Ribot present a stripped-down acoustic version of the Hank Williams classic "Cold, Cold Heart."

Blues titan Keb' Mo' pays a heartfelt tribute to the night's President's Award Honoree B.B. King, with a soulful interpretation of one of the late legend's signature songs, "How Blue Can You Get," (alongside King's beloved guitar "Lucille"). The night's Lifetime Achievement Award honorees for Performance, East L.A. stalwarts Los Lobos, validate their honor with a blistering, show-closing rendition of their classic "Will the Wolf Survive."

Throughout the broadcast, performers are backed by an all-star house band—led by Buddy Miller—and featuring legendary musicians: Dominic Davis, Chad Cromwell, Fats Kaplin, Ian Fitchuk, the McCrary Sisters and Little Feat founding member Bill Payne.

"This event is a musical celebration that brings together the finest musicians in the world, with legendary acts and the next generation of stars," says Jed Hilly, Executive Director of the Americana Music Association, adding "it's about great songs and the appreciation for the authentic sound of American roots music."

The show was co-produced by High Five Entertainment and its President Martin Fischer and ACL Executive Producer Terry Lickona.

The complete line-up for the full 14-week season of Austin City Limits, including seven new episodes to air beginning January 2016, will be announced shortly. Viewers can visit acltv.com for news regarding future tapings, episode schedules and live stream updates.

About ACL Presents

ACL Presents is music programming created by, or in association with, KLRU, the producers of Austin City Limits (ACL). ACL Presents programming includes television specials, live events, web series and recorded music presentations and is made in the spirit and standards of the legendary PBS series Austin City Limits, the longest-running live music series in television history. ACL Presents collaborations have included: Hardly Strictly Bluegrass with KQED and Americana Music Festival with Nashville Public Television (NPT).

About Austin City Limits

ACL offers viewers unparalleled access to featured acts in an intimate setting that provides a platform for artists to deliver inspired, memorable, full-length performances. The program is taped live before a concert audience from The Moody Theater in downtown Austin. ACL is the longest-running music series in American television history and remains the only TV series to ever be awarded the National Medal of Arts. Since its inception in 1974, the groundbreaking music series has become an institution that's helped secure Austin's reputation as the Live Music Capital of the World. The historic KLRU Studio 6A, home to 36 years of ACL concerts, has been designated an official Rock & Roll Hall of Fame Landmark. In 2011, ACL moved to the new venue ACL Live at The Moody Theater in downtown Austin. ACL received a rare institutional Peabody Award for excellence and outstanding achievement in 2012.

ACL is produced by KLRU-TV and funding is provided in part by Budweiser, the Austin Convention Center Department, Dell and HomeAway. Additional funding is provided by the Friends of Austin City Limits. Learn more about Austin City Limits, programming and history at acltv.com.
